Gospel Sing ☆

Several individuals and groups graced the stage at Thiebaud Auditorium on Wednesday, Aug. 21, for the Lamar Free Fair Gospel Sing. After a 30 minute warmup by No Apparent Reason, featuring Rick Rector, Randy Wagner, Jim Graham, Clint Shields and friends, the program opened at 6:30 p.m. with the Posting of the Colors by members of VFW Post 3691. The Vintage Tyme Quartet, consisting of Rick Dunaway, Daryl Johanson, Mike (continued on page 13)

(continued from page 12) Baggerly and Don Snow performed the "National Anthem", after which the VFW led in the Pledge of Allegiance, followed with a tribute to those veterans and active duty soldiers that have died this year. The presentation of the folding of the flag was followed with "Taps".

Singing began with Karen Darnell, who performed "My Boys Song", followed with the Vintage Tyme Quartet performing once again, only this time singing "Feeling Fine" and "What A Wonderful World". Darnell returned to sing, "I've Come to Far to Look Back" and Deryle Rotramel sang, "I Believe in a Hill Called Mt. Calvary" and "The King is Coming".

Linda McArthur and Lanette Klee-man performed, "That's All That Matters to Me" and "If We Never Meet Again". A very popular performer at the gospel sing, Craig Hackney, sang, "Just Pay Attention" and "Can I Pray for You?" and Kenneth Hudson sang, "Mercy Walked In". Scott Newell performed, "One Dirt Road" and "God on the Mountain."

The extremely popular group, the Winchells, performed "The Little White Church" and "On the Wings of Angels", then were joined by Donna Holt who performed, "Where Roses Never Fade" and "God Put His Hand on My Shoulder".

The warmup group of No Apparent Reason returned to the stage to perform a medley. Matt Brown then sang a beautiful a cappella rendition of "How Great Thou Art", along with "Ain't No Grave". The evening finished with members from Iantha Methodist Church, Dana Meadows, Heather Williams, Dani Hukill, Adam Wolf, Bruce Wolf and Matt Brown singing "Power in the Blood" and "The Old Rugged Cross".

Members of the audience were encouraged to sing along with those on stage during the final songs that were performed for the evening. At the conclusion of the gospel sing, emcee CK Warden recognized two men from the community that had been instrumental to the gospel sing in the past. One was Richard Cooper with the Lamar Democrat, who so graciously covered the event over the years and the other was Vern Young, who had performed many times at the fair. Both had passed within the past year.

Warden also recognized Brian Brewer for all the hard work he put in running the sound system at Thiebaud.

Photos on page 12 and 13: (First) Donna Holt sat in with The Winchells as they performed several numbers at the Lamar Free Fair Gospel Sing. (Second) Craig Hackney performed for the crowd, singing, "Just Pay Attention" and a heart rendering, "Can I Pray For You?" (Third) VFW Post 3691 helped begin the Lamar Fair Gospel Sing with a presentation of the colors, along with a patriotic presentation of the folding of the United States Flag, followed by "Taps". (Fourth) The Iantha Methodist Praise Band brought the program to an end, with an audience participation of singing, "The Old Rugged Cross". (Fifth) Kenneth Hudson performed, "Mercy Walked In". (Sixth) No Apparent Reason entertained the crowd throughout the evening.
