

News Story Summary

Paris Fashion Week takes place each spring and fall, with fashion designers displaying their clothing designs for the upcoming seasons. This September's show featured some of these latest ideas in fashion for fall and winter 2018-2019. Some of the clothes point to trends that include cowgirl fashion, bright floral prints, jackets with 1980s-style shoulder pads, fake fur, sheepskin, clothing with fringing, capes, scarf prints, and 1960s-style skirts.

(For more on this story, search the Internet using the term "fall winter 2018-19 fashion trends".)

Focus Attention

To supplement the Focus Attention idea, share the news item above. Note that while the Paris Fashion show might not quite represent the way many of us dress, it does remind us that with the change of seasons comes the changes in our clothing. Continue by following the instructions under Introduce.

Challenge

To supplement Summarize and Challenge, remind the group of the news item about the fashion week show and the changes in clothing that come with each changing season. Explain that just as our clothing changes from one season to the next, our character should change as the Holy Spirit transforms us to become more like the image of Christ. Continue by asking the question under Challenge: In what areas of your life are you relying on yourself and not the Holy Spirit? What needs to happen for you to rely upon the Holy Spirit to live a Christ-honoring life in those areas?