Dear Lisa,

Thank you for your fun, wonderful and enriching presentation on giving good science presentations at NYU SoM this past Tuesday. It was a pleasure to meet you and be able to sit in on a good portion of your seminar.

Aram Bakshian, a corporate speechwriter and former Director of Speechwriting during Regan's presidency has said "To rise to the top in any field, you must be an outstanding public speaker." Your ability to focus on the high-impact aspects of good presentations in general and to incorporate the facets that are unique to giving memorable and effective science presentations are invaluable to the young scientists who attended. Your enthusiasm for the topic and concern for the audiences' learning were also palpable and led to a highly motivating atmosphere.

I look forward to hearing comments about impressive presentations from those that attended and look forward to having you back in the coming years to share your skills with our university communities.

Best wishes for your continued success.

Appreciatively,

Robert Tillman, Ph.D.
