Animal control officer training manual

KACCA offers free training to all animal control and animal shelter agencies in the Commonwealth. Each user must accept the Terms of Use when registering. There are currently two programs available. The first is the Animal Care Technician program which is a basic introduction to animal care and kennel maintenance. The second is a basic training program for Animal Control Officers. The Basic ACO program is designed around kentucky's animal control officer training manual created by KACCA and approved by the Kentucky Animal Control Advisory Board. Signing up is easy. Simply press the Register today button in the bottom right corner of the page and submit the form. You'll be sent an email link to create an account. There is a test at the end of each program. Pass it and we will send you an end certificate! Make sure of bookmarks on this page and you can access the training program by pressing the Start Training button in the top right corner. Possible Merger Discussions (Members Only) Coronavirus (COVID-19) Updates NACA envisages a world in which all animal care and control professionals are respected as essential public servants and receive consistent support, resources and training that enables them to effectively and compassionately achieve the highest quality of life for the animals and citizens of the community they serve. The National Animal Care & Control Association is a non-profit organization that is committed to establishing the standard of professionalism in animal welfare and public safety through training, networking and promotion. All archived magazines, including the latest versions, are available free of charge to individual NACA members. NACA is dedicated to professional development. By joining NACA you will have access to the best training opportunities. You can also connect with other NACA members! In the only place of our member you can publish your profile, collaborate together on projects, share your ideas and experience with other people.
