

Texas Lutheran University Tschoepe Hall

SEGUIN, TEXAS

The 34,000-square-foot Tschoepe Hall houses the Education Department and Business Administration offices at Texas Lutheran University. The building promotes personal attention, team work and learning through the use of collaborative work spaces as well as integrated new technology and multimedia to effectively deliver curriculums. The courtyard encourages group activity and safe campus environment and the building envelope emulates the campus' style.
