Associate in Arts in Liberal Arts: Global Studies

Students in the Global Studies program at Massachusetts Bay Community College will:

- Employ interdisciplinary analysis to increase knowledge of historical and contemporary global issues, including economic and political interdependency among nations; globalization; environmental-cultural interaction; global governance bodies and non-governmental organizations; and socio-cultural patterns of interaction in various cultures.
- Analyze an array of texts, information, and concepts from diverse cultures and societies around the world to think critically about global issues from a variety of perspectives.
- Develop and demonstrate an understanding of and sensitivity to the cultural values and beliefs of multiple global societies and assess how these variables affect international relations.
- Demonstrate the ability to engage in effective communication about current and past global concerns, including materials across a second language.
