

Local Coops Form Partnership to Create Co-Ag Propane

Beginning July 1, 2018, Agri Trails Coop (Hope, KS) and Cooperative Grain & Supply (Hillsboro, KS) will start delivering propane and servicing residential, agricultural, and commercial propane customers throughout both companies' trade territories. Co-Ag Propane will be the company name for the joint venture. The opportunity to partner the two customer focused Coops will create a large service area with the ability and support to expand as the company grows. "Partnering the two Coops will provide the communities we already serve with a locally owned and operated propane option. In an area where a lot of choices are disappearing, we are excited to have the opportunity to add instead of take away," said Jerry Fenske, General Manager of Cooperative Grain & Supply. The board of directors from each parent Coop unanimously approved the formation of the new partnership. Darel Anderson, General Manager of Agri Trails Coop stated, "The timing and the partnership feel right. Both Coops share similar company values focused on providing excellent customer service and strengthening our local communities. Co-Ag Propane will operate using the same principles."

Customers do not need to be a member of either Coop to be a propane customer.
