Good Morning!

Corn and beans both higher overnight, but have turned red as we head into the break. Nov beans closed below $10 futures for 1st time since April yesterday. Relatively quiet news wise as we get into the back stretch of the week. Still no word out of Trump about an extension for the Chinese on tariff as their August 12th deadline approaches. The expectation is that it will be extended. More rain moved through the corn belt overnight covering pretty much the entire part of the corn belt. Some more showers locally here this morning. I hope everyone enjoys the cool temps working their way in!!
