Good morning!!

Corn and beans both down 3.5 cents at the morning break. Crop ratings yesterday had a 4% decline in good/excellent ratings for soybeans and a 2% decline for corn. Little early for the beans to start falling like that but makes sense with the dry pattern. Japan's Trade Minister will visit the U.S. this week for trade talks. Trump took a shot at the Chinese last night on social media so that still looks very far away. Chance of rain this afternoon doesn't look like it'll amount to much if we get any temps. Really start cooling off as we head toward the weekend tomorrow.
