

Offer Contract

An offer contract is exactly what it sounds like. If you do not like today's price, you can make an offer to sell your grain at a specific price. We will track the price and automatically lock in a cash price or futures level that you offered. If the market never reaches your target, you do not have a contract. An offer can be changed or canceled anytime before the market reaches the target that is set.

