

Above: General view of Kadikoy Park toward the Bosphorus and Sea of Marmara; the wash-room facilities are seen at right.

Below: View of Kadikoy Park square; the circular form of the washroom facility is seen at centre right.

Kadiköy Park, Istanbul, Turkey

Above: The entrance covers a staircase leading to the women's washroom on the southeast side.

Below: Front elevation of the lightweight steel and glass structure enclosing the staircase to the women's washroom.

Kadiköy Park, Istanbul, Turkey

Above: The circular structure containing the washroom facilities protrudes 1.1m above the ground and is surrounded by opaque glass allowing natural light to penetrate the interior.

Below: At night, the lit form of the roof identifies the building, and forms a glimmering circle within the surrounding garden.

Above: The entrance down to the men's wash-room as seen from the main road.

Below: Stairs lead down to the men's wash-room; submerging the facility allows for the landscaping of the roof.

Kadiköy Park, Istanbul, Turkey

Above: Detail of the steel and glass door at the women's entrance.

Right: View up the stairwell from the women's washroom.

Kadiköy Park, Istanbul, Turkey

Above: The interior of the men's washroom is detailed in stainless steel and granite floors. The structure is a concrete shell.

Below: Natural light from the roof filters into the washbasin area in the men's washroom.

Kadiköy Park, Istanbul, Turkey