AMITY INSTITUTE OF BIOTECHNOLOGY

Amity Institute of Biotechnology gives a new impetus to modern biology and biotechnology in India. Since the inception, it has been nurturing individuals to build a successful career in biotechnology, pharmaceutical and food related industries. It's well-equipped laboratories help students gain expertise in handling various tools.

Research at AIB is based on strong academic footing, with the objective to explore biotechnology for the benefit of different cutting-edge areas/applied research, especially in the fields of microbiology, transgenic, plant pathology – PGPR interactions for helping plant defence, enzymes and enzyme technology, molecular biological aspects of plant cell functioning, immunology, genomics and antimicrobial assessment of medicinal plants.

A unique feature of Amity Institute of Biotechnology has been the deep involvement with the scientific community of the country through a number of technical task forces, advisory committees and individual experts in identification, formulation, implementation and monitoring of various programmes and activities.

MODERN-AGE LABORATORIES

All the four AIB labs are well-equipped with new-age facilities for practical teaching/demonstrations and research equipment like: Spectrophotometer, PCR Machine, Gel Documentation System, ELISA Reader, Centrifuge Machine, Orbital Incubator Shaker, Laminar Flow Hood, Bioreactor, Milli Q Water System, Deep Freezer, Temperature Controlled Dry Bath and Horizontal and Vertical Electrophoretic Assembly.

With state-of-the-art Biotech labs, students are exposed to research on various aspects of Molecular Biology, RDT, Plant Tissue Culture, Immunology, Bioprocess Technology, Fermentation Biology, Toxicology and Microbiology/Biochemical Technology.

Faculty of Amity Institute of Biotechnology are involved in the following research

- Tissue Culture of Medicinal Plants
- Androgen Receptor Signalling
- Drugs Susceptibility

Patents in research

- Three patents filed in the USA, Europe and China for Rabies Vaccine gene
- One patent filed in the USA for Androgen Receptor Signalling

"The mission of Amity Institute of Biotechnology is to maximise the benefits of biotechnology by being an excellent quality, comprehensive, multidisciplinary biotechnology centre. AIB provides a platform for biotechnology education, training and research at the interface of multiple disciplines."

Amity Institute of Information Technology (AIIT) keeps students abreast of the latest computer science developments.

The curriculum is updated by Industry Advisory Boards with an emphasis on practical training, covering areas like Networking, Multimedia, Design of Algorithms, Object Oriented DBMS, Microprocessors, Data Warehousing among others.

With its excellent infrastructure, centrally air-conditioned labs and the latest software technology, AIIT moulds the students into highly qualified computer professionals.

Ongoing Research Projects

- Digital Signature Verification System

The objective of the signature verification system is to discriminate between two classes, the original and the forgery, which are related to intra and interpersonal variability.

A novel approach to off-line signature identification and verification system is introduced. In the first step, the image of a signature is normalised. Next, a sequence of features is extracted from the normalised image. The extracted feature vectors are then used to train a model representing the signature.

- E-Governance using Cloud Computing
