

June 28, 2020

Greetings! I trust you are well.

Thank you for your help last Sunday.

Choir: You are most welcome at either morning service or both. If you have not yet been back to Choir, please read additional information from May 31 & June 7, so you understand what to do, when to do it, and where to go.

Orchestra players: thank you for such a wonderful job the past four Sundays! Again, those who stay for the first service may leave at the designated time before our pastor begins preaching at the 10:30 service. Thank you so much for your help. If you have not yet been back for a service, please let Michael Gifford know you plan on coming so there will be a chair, stand and music for you. We will have space for those who declare their intentions.

Choir and Orchestra, please wear black slacks and white shirts for the foreseeable future. It's not about fashion; it's about uniformity. Ladies, you may substitute tea length, midi length, or longer skirts (in black) for slacks. Thank you so much for your cooperation.

In the coming week, several of our people celebrate birthdays. Send them a card, email, text, or give them a call and sing "Happy Birthday."

Carla Kirkland (sop1) – Monday, June 29
Darlene Bateman (alto) – Monday, June 29
Ashley Hicks (sop1) – Friday, July 3
Bobbie Lee (alto) – Friday, July 3
Mandy Deaver (alto) – Friday, July 3
Malcus Beard (bass) – Saturday, July 4

Darlene Bateman has requested we pray for her health situation. I know she will appreciate you praying for her.

America celebrates July 4 as Independence Day because it was on July 4, 1776, that members of the Second Continental Congress, meeting in Philadelphia, adopted the final draft of the Declaration of Independence.

Spontaneous Celebrations

Following its adoption, the Declaration was read to the public in various American cities. Whenever they heard it, patriots erupted in cheers and celebrations.

In 1777, Philadelphians remembered the 4th of July. Bells were rung, guns fired, candles lighted, and firecrackers set off. However, while the War of Independence dragged on, July 4 celebrations were modest at best.

When the war ended in 1783, July 4 became a holiday in some places. In Boston, it replaced the date of the Boston Massacre, March 5, as the major patriotic holiday. Speeches, military events, parades, and fireworks marked the day. In 1941, Congress declared July 4 a federal holiday.

Picnics and Games

Over time, various other summertime activities also came to be associated with the Fourth of July, including historical pageants, picnics, baseball games, watermelon-eating contests, and trips to the beach. Common foods include hot dogs, hamburgers, corn on the cob, apple pie, cole slaw, and sometimes clam bakes.

Colonial Attractions

While the Fourth is celebrated across the country, historic cities like Boston, New York, Washington, D.C., and Philadelphia draw huge crowds to their festivities.

In Boston, the USS John F. Kennedy often sails into the harbor, while the Boston Pops Orchestra holds a televised concert on the banks of the Charles River, featuring American music and ending with the 1812 Overture.

Philadelphia holds its celebrations at Independence Hall, where historic scenes are reenacted and the Declaration of Independence is read.

Rodeos and Candles

Other interesting parties include the American Indian rodeo and three-day pow-wow in Flagstaff, Arizona, and the Lititz, Pennsylvania, candle festival, where hundreds of candles are floated in water and a "Queen of Candles" is chosen.

John Adams Urged Recognition

The second president, John Adams, would have approved. "I believe that it will be celebrated by succeeding generations as the great anniversary festival," he wrote his wife, Abigail. "It ought to be celebrated by pomp and parade, with shows, games, sports, guns, bells, bonfires, and illuminations from one end of this continent to the other..."

John Hancock Was First

John Hancock, the president of the Second Continental Congress, was the first to sign the Declaration. With its ornate capitals, Hancock's sprawling signature is prominent on the document. Since then, when people are asked for their "John Hancock," they are being asked to sign their names.

All 56 men who ultimately signed the Declaration showed great courage. Announcing independence from Great Britain was an act of treason, punishable by death.

A Marvelous Document

The Declaration of Independence itself has become one of the most admired and copied political documents of all time. It was written by Thomas Jefferson and revised by John Adams, Benjamin Franklin, and Jefferson.

The Declaration of Independence is a justification of the American Revolution, citing grievances against King George III. It is also a landmark philosophical statement, drawing on the writings of philosophers John Locke and Jean Jacques Rousseau. It affirms that since all people are creatures of God, they have certain natural rights, or liberties, that cannot be violated.

The Declaration and the American Revolution have since inspired freedom-seekers the around the world.

From infoplease.com by David Johnson

This year marks the 244th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence from Great Britain. With all her ills and shortcomings, America is still—by the grace of God—the greatest nation on earth. Perhaps this Fourth of July, we should pause and renew our dependence on the God who allowed America to become the greatest nation on earth.

I hope you have a safe and happy July 4th! It is a great joy serving with you and being your Minister of Music!

I look forward to seeing you this Lord's Day. It is a great joy serving as your minister of music. blessings!