Do Trials Make Us Patient?

“My brethren, count it all joy when you fall into various trials, knowing that the testing of your faith produces patience. But let patience have its perfect work, that you may be perfect and complete, lacking nothing. If any of you lacks wisdom, let him ask of God, who gives to all liberally and without reproach, and it will be given to him” (James 1:2-5).

The hardships of life build patience in us. But that growth depends on us. Christians respond in different ways to the troubles of life. Some fall away when they face tribulation and persecution (Matt. 13:21). Others endure the trial, but they don’t learn as much as they should. They don’t get rid of attitude problems or work on their weaknesses. They drift back into the same careless patterns in their spiritual life. Why does this happen?

James said it’s not enough just to make it through the crisis. He said these trials will bring patience—but, you must let patience have its perfect work. Let the effects of the trial sink in. Meditate on what you have learned. Don’t rush back to your earthly routine. Don’t go back to being lazy about your prayer life and Bible reading. Decide to do better. Commit to loving God more. Allow the fire of tribulation to mold you thoroughly into the complete Christian you need to be. Examine your heart, your speech, and your actions. Let this bad experience be a stepping stone to maturity, not an inconvenient interruption to your plans. Let the trial change you completely, not just in one or two ways in general. All of this takes something Christians in this age are unwilling to give: time.

And what if you aren’t as wise as you need to be? What if that is what we lack as we face troubles? James said to ask God for wisdom and He will give it if we believe. It’s easy to pray when we’re in pain. But many times we are so glad when it’s over we just want to relax and enjoy. There is a place for that. But we must not forget that the Lord has been merciful. It seems that I remember a story about nine men who failed to see that (Luke 17:11-19).

Mike's Message

When Saying I'm Sorry Really Matters

Text: Psalm 51

The superscription presents this Psalm as written after David's sin with Bathsheba (2 Sam. 11-12): One evening, King David got out of bed and walked to the roof. Gazing out over the city, he saw a beautiful woman bathing. He inquired about her and learned that she was Bathsheba, the wife of Uriah the Hittite; and that he was away at war. David sent for her to come to his bedroom. He later learned she was going to have his baby. In an attempt to cover his sin, David had Uriah brought in from the battlefield to report on the war. After the conversation, David suggested that Uriah go home and spend the night with his wife. Uriah did not but rather slept on the King's porch because going home to his wife during a time of war would have been an act of disloyalty to his fellow soldiers. Since Uriah couldn't be persuaded to compromise, David sent him back to battle with a letter to deliver to the commanding officer. Uriah didn't know it, but he was delivering his own death warrant. The letter instructed to put Uriah on the front lines and withdraw the other troops so Uriah would be sure to die. Uriah was killed and David married Bathsheba.

No one in Israel knew the story behind the story, but the Bible says, "The thing David had done was evil in the sight of the Lord" (2 Samuel 11:27). The Lord sent a prophet named Nathan to confront David with his sin. He told of two men one was rich and the other poor. The rich man had guests, and he took the poor man's lamb to feed his guests. David was outraged and declared that the man who did this thing should die. Nathan responded, David "you are the man" (2 Sam 12:7). David cried to Nathan, "I have sinned against the Lord" (2 Sam. 12:13a). Because of this sin David was punished by God. The ultimate punishment would be that the child born to David and Bathsheba would become sick and die. It is likely that it is during this time of the child's sickness and David's remorse that he prayed what he later wrote and is recorded as the 51st Psalm.

David presents three things necessary to be truly sorry when we sin. First, one must admit his sin (vv. 1-3). Second, one must admit he has hurt God with his sin (v. 4). Third, we must know who to turn to when we sin (vv. 6-17).

Considering David and these three points, saying "I'm sorry" only matters when we admit our sin, when we accept that God is hurt more than anyone by our sin, and when we turn to God for forgiveness. Words are worthless without a "broken and contrite heart" (cf. Ps. 51:17; 1 John 3:18).

You ought to say, If the Lord wills, we shall live and also do this or that. But as it is you boast in your arrogance; all such boasting is evil. Therefore, to one who knows the right thing to do, and does not do it, to him it is sin (James 4:15-17).

Carpenter's Apprentice

In 1946, to raise awareness and morale, Admiral Chester Nimitz, Chief of Naval Operations, formed the U.S. Navy Flight Demonstration Squadron, known originally as the Blue Lancers. The "Blues" flew their first show in Jacksonville, Florida in June of 1946. A month later, however, one of the pilots saw an ad in the New Yorker magazine for the Blue Angel night club and at a show in Omaha, Nebraska, in July of 1946, they were first called the Blue Angels. This morning, I was privileged for the umpteenth time to watch the Angels fly one of their pre-show practices. Their shows bring back many memories for me and always - always make me cry. As I watch them fly incredibly close together, I am reminded of many things from Beau's first sighting of the Angels at the age of two to taking Sophia, Olivia and Levi to their first air show. I also think of the sound they make. I think the "sneak pass" is my favorite part of the show because when you hear the jet engine, the plane is already passed you by. I can only imagine a platoon of pinned down troops who are anxiously awaiting the called for air support that will give them life, and how glorious that sound must be when it finally arrives. On the flip side, the same sound is not one of hope and salvation but the dawning of realization, finality and doom. I cannot help but think of the day Jesus comes back. "In a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, at the last trump: for the trumpet shall sound, and the dead shall be raised incorruptible, and we shall be changed" (1 Corinthians 15:52). What a day that will be for those who have obeyed the Gospel, endured to the end and anxiously awaited the crown of righteousness promised and the words of our Lord, "Enter in my good and faithful servant." As amazing as the Blues are to me, I also cannot help but notice, nearly every time I see them fly, the number of people who just do not seem to care. I am sure if you mentioned the planes to them you would get an array of responses from, "Yes, they are incredible," to "they are too loud and annoying." This too reminds me of judgement day. While many know it is coming, they are just too caught up in daily living and life to care enough to stop and marvel at God's power, love and righteousness. "When the trumpet of the Lord shall come and time shall be no more, and the morning breaks eternal bright and fair; when the saved of earth shall gather over on the other shore and the role is called up yonder;" will the sound of the trumpet be one of salvation or one of condemnation for you?
