Exciting work with fellow missionary - Guyana

What a pleasure it is to work with like-minded missionaries. In May, Missionary Gregg Mann invited Russ to speak at his pastor's conference in Guyana. They had a great meeting with the pastors and an uplifting service on Sunday. This is a unique work in that the church is close to the river, and the people come to church by boat (boat-taxi).

After concluding the pastor's conference, Russ and Pastor Gregg drove closer to the Venezuelan border, to an Indigenous village of the Warao Tribe. These people speak Spanish as well as their Indian dialect. They understand very little English (the Guyanese language) so evangelism efforts with these people has been slower. Russ had the privilege of preaching to them in Spanish. Many people were saved, and on the last day Russ baptized 24 people. This is a new work in development for the glory of the Lord.

Colombia

Two weeks later following the Guyana conference, Russ left for Colombia and his next adventure – a new area for him. The hand of God was with him every moment...

The Watchful Eye of God!

I stood at the edge of the G..... River (name withheld) and observed the rising waters. It had taken three days to get to this point... a flight from Costa Rica to Colombia, two 4-hour bus trips, and two shorter trips by a taxi-pickup. This was new territory for me.

Why had I made this trip? To Read More scan QR code

Lynn's Corner

God has blessed us with a unique opportunity to spend extra time (while on the field) with our daughter and three of our granddaughters. We enjoy walks, Friday night dinners, sleep overs and much more. They are enjoying school, learning Spanish, a new culture, and making many new friends. It is so much fun to hear them speak Spanish with their friends while playing. Our youngest granddaughter (4 yrs. old) comes home from school speaking only in Spanish. She hasn't lost her English, but she is certainly becoming comfortable in Spanish.
