BIO

David White is an award-winning media executive that brings over a decade of experience, guidance and effective decision-making skills within the company. He is responsible for overall execution of sound direction, ensuring optimal success for various media projects. He works on the technical aspects of recording — the placing of microphones, preamp knobs, audio levels — and live sound mixing to produce sound for film, radio, television, music, theatre, corporate events and more. He is also a professional voice-over artist with experience in commercials, promos, television, theatrical and musical productions for the company.
