A CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION: HONORING 100 YEARS OF HISTORY, INNOVATION & COMMUNITY

A century of aviation history took center stage this September as the Historic Ford Hangar in Lansing, Illinois, celebrated its 100th anniversary. Designed by renowned architect Albert Kahn and built in 1926 for Henry Ford and the Ford Motor Company, the landmark remains an important part of the Chicago Southland's aviation and architectural heritage.

The centennial celebration featured a gala on September 18 and an Expo & Aviation Showcase on September 19, while launching an $8.5 million capital campaign to restore and reactivate the Hangar. Road 2 Eternity Media was onsite to capture and chronicle the historic occasion, highlighting the Hangar's enduring legacy and the vision for its next chapter, watch the video here: Historic Ford Hangar Celebration

Plans envision a vibrant destination featuring an aviation museum, public art, educational opportunities and a flexible venue for community and special events. The restoration represents more than preserving a historic building—it seeks to create new opportunities for tourism, education, local businesses and economic investment throughout the region. As the Historic Ford Hangar enters its second century, its legacy is preparing to take flight once again, serving the Chicago Southland for generations to come.
