Teaing

Without denigrating or elevating two of my favorite beverages, examine with me, if you will,
what our society does
with them and us.

We are espressoed at every turn,
pitched the idea that speed
is the key to happiness,
and incited to gulp giant java
all day long as productivity's enhancement.

What of life's Oolonging?
Ceremoniously or not,
there is deliberateness and attentiveness
in tea's steeping that awakens us to life's calming cardiac rhythm.

Shutter speed, it turns out,
is not all it's cracked up to be.
Without attention to focal point,
life is a race to a picture of nowhere.

Todd

Food Bank Needs: Pasta*This and That from Pastor Greg Cartwright . . .

I read an article lately that was both profound and forward-reaching. Pondering on the reading, I couldn't help but think how others may profit spiritually from it as we enter into the new year. Summarizing the article for you, think on the words of the author and ways to gain encouragement for the days and months to come.

How do you restore hope when life has been utterly shattered? When next year looks as bleak as the one gone by? God undertakes this task of restoration of his shattered people by speaking words of hope through his prophet Isaiah. Curiously, in an amazing series of chapters, Isaiah speaks of Judah's fall and exile in Babylon long before it even takes place. And then he includes the words of encouragement they will need to leave the land of their oppressors and return to Jerusalem.

In earlier chapters, Isaiah's task has been to call to repentance. Now, he becomes the bringer of hope -- centuries in advance. You and I, like Israel of old, may have experienced a difficult season of life, with hope drained by circumstance and heart utterly exhausted by life's trials. Here is a word of encouragement from God to you. That word, which I give to you as homework, comes in reading these verses: Isaiah 40:1-2; 43:18-21. Take the time to read through these words and meditate on them with a spiritual savor.

Pastor Greg

Food Bank Needs: Pasta*Moment for Missions – Asbury Warming Shelter

Today's Moment for Mission is about our neighbors in real need right now. Some of us tend to think of neighbors in terms of someone who lives near us or goes to church with us. But the neighbors I'm talking about have no houses. They find shelter in doorways, an alcove, or a tent or lean to in the woods. These neighbors are at terrible physical risk with this cold weather. I'm talking about the white flag nights at Asbury Warming Shelter directed by the CARE Center.

Each night is covered by two individuals (one male and one female) who sit the night shift from 8 PM to 8 AM in the Asbury Fellowship Hall at AUMC. Duties include assisting the CARE staff with registering every individual, directing the clients to snacks, coffee, and restroom facilities; serving as gatekeepers for 'lights out' at 10 PM and 'rise and shine' at 7 AM. The clients are good at getting their bedding and cots from storage and returning them again in the morning.

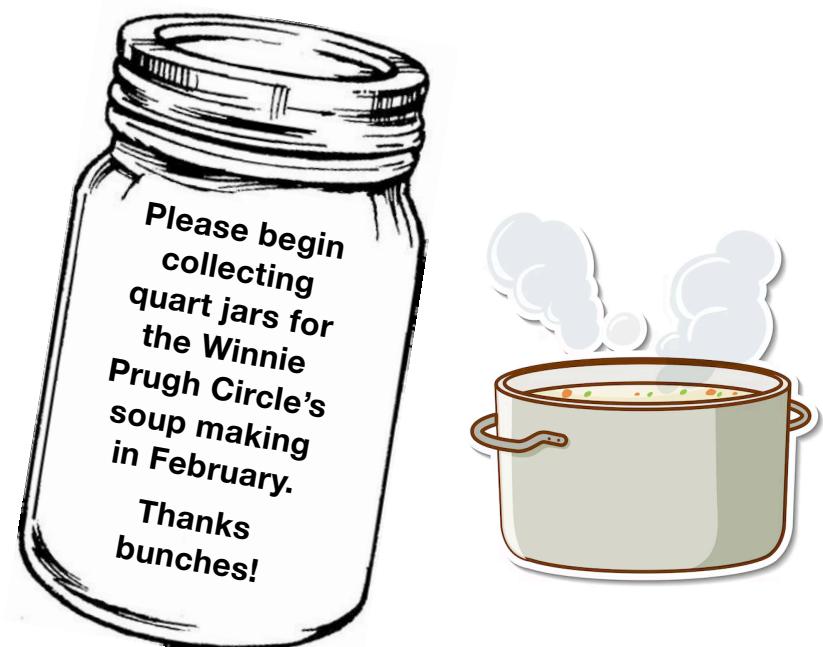

This is a nightly schedule that will stretch out the winter months (that's about 70 more days spanning January, February, and early March). Volunteers are asked to sign up for one or more nightly shift(s) and then watch the weather – you report for duty at 7:45 PM by the back entrance to the Fellowship Hall. If temperatures moderate and are not predicted to go below 32 degrees, then you are off the hook for that night. Shift splitting is allowed but is highly

2026's FWFC (First Wednesdays at First Church)

January 7 will be our first FWFC of the new year. The theme for this gathering will be "God's Story People." Whatever else we're able to learn from the book we call the Bible, one of the most obvious and repeated messages is that we define ourselves by our own life stories, and we find our connection in the sacred community by listening to and learning from the stories of those who are sojourning with us on planet earth.

After our meal together, pastor Todd will introduce us to and lead us through a fun activity in small groups, around the tables where we're sitting, which will give us all an opportunity to contribute to a shared story.

Please make your reservations (online or by contacting the church office) by 12:00 PM on January 6. We hope to see you there!

Todd Jenkins

individual. Most adults who have raised kids have the skills to do this work. CANUP is helping recruit our volunteers for this service because we urge any of our clients to seek shelter when it is this cold. Please consider this opportunity to stand by and support our unhoused neighbors shielding them from the uncertainties of winter weather. We have found them to be universally grateful for the relief from the elements; you might find it inspiring as you get to learn the circumstances of clients who live daily without housing.

Rules for reminders for clients staying at the Warming Center:

1. Outer door is locked at 10 PM; no one goes out to smoke until 6:30 AM. If you go out before that, you are not let back in.
2. Only one client at a time is allowed in the restrooms.
3. Everybody mutes their phones or uses headphones or ear buds; screens after lights out are to be shielded by blanket.
4. Clients remain in the Fellowship Hall and corridor to restrooms only; no wandering the church facility.
5. Fellowship Hall is left clean and tidy by 7:55 each morning.
6. Clients bag all trash and carry to the outside dumpster.

Gideons Report

From Auschwitz to the cross

Rudolph Höss, commander of Auschwitz was responsible for the deaths of millions during the Holocaust. His grandson, Kai, did not learn of this dark family legacy until his teenage years. The revelation weighed heavily on him. He pursued success in the hotel industry living by the Motto “work hard play hard,” and achieved senior management roles in five star hotels across Asia.

Then life collapsed. After a surgery went wrong, Kyia lost significant blood and faced a near-death emergency. In the days that followed, wrecked by pain and depression, he reached for a Bible in his hospital room in Singapore - the very Bible placed by The Gideons International. At first, he read out of boredom, thinking: At least I can say I read it. But when he came to Psalm 51 and read David's remorseful response to Nathan, God pierced his heart.

Though he returned to his old lifestyle after recovery, the Lord continued to pursue him. A fellow German repeatedly invited him to church, and eventually Kai agreed to attend. There, God opened his heart fully, and he gave his life to Jesus Christ - confessing Him as the eternal Son of God and the only savior.

Christ's transforming grace freed Kai from the generational weight of his grandfather's horrific sins. For more than 20 years, he has faithfully pastored a church in Germany, with a special call to serve the Jewish people through biblical teachings and the ministry of reconciliation.

“God used the Bible in the drawer, placed by The Gideons to change my entire life ,” Pastor Höss says. He moved me from a heritage of darkness to proclaim Jesus Christ as savior.”
