Program Notes

This program contains an eclectic selection of modern to baroque pieces. We open the program with a trio performing a piece from Milhaud who was one of the most prolific composers of the 20th century. In no particular order, we take the audience on a walk backwards into the past two centuries of music history, featuring defining composers of their time.

Benny Goodman
Premiered
Copland's Clarinet
Concerto on NBC
in 1950

An American in Paris (1951) won
the Best Picture
Academy Award
in 1952

*Thank you to all our audiences and donors!
