

Hope for Haiti newsletter October, 2012

Roofing has arrived for the Bois Neuf Conference Area. Donated funds, time, delivery from the states and a 53' trailer, 30' sheets and a case of screws, just need laborers!

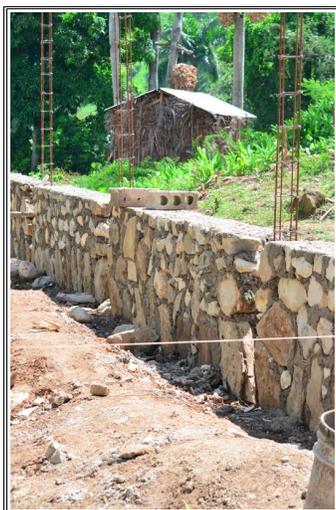

This past week contains a "Week of Faces" from Bataille on Facebook, Google Plus, EMEVI Blog and the Hope for Haiti Website. There's more to the story, so, check it out!

Power up? In this case it's carry the the neighborhood of 5 miles down the Bataille, that's as close as vehicle traffic generator but just how will it make it to Bataille said just get it to the mountain the rest. After a few tries using whatever down ahead of these guys. A short time was taken off a home placed underneath it and up on their heads it goes. We just on the move! This generator is staying come. Not to mention it was used this time for some video's which led to a number of new commitments to the Lord!

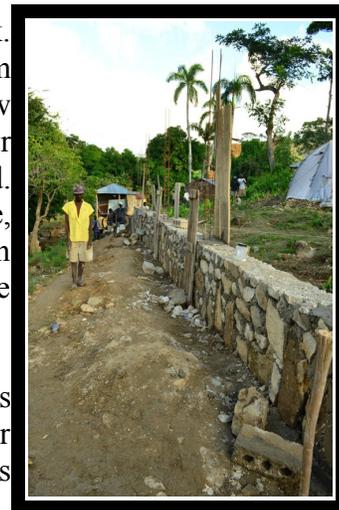

power down. Somewhere in mountain chain Matheux, to will take you. So we have the it's destination? The folks at top and they would take care of was available we headed on later here they come. A door the generator which was tied to got out of the way as they were there to help in the days to

This is the finished product from 2 ½ days work. Ok, more time before that to gather supplies but from the first shovel full of dirt to this and the new foundation for the church/school at Bataille is under way. 30X70 building and all being built by hand. Check out the new slideshow/video by clicking here, it's called "Bataille Up". School has gone from 30 in Oct 2010 to 250. While we visited they met outside under a tree by the river Couline.

Leadership Conference at Bois Neuf starts this week with the last count of registered attendees at over 300. Leaders come from all over the country for this time of teaching crossing all denominational lines.

We are now in process of putting together another crate to send. If anyone is interested in putting together some "Shoe Bags" (click here) to send along please let us know and we will plan accordingly. We would need them here in Chattanooga by the early part of December.

We post regular updates on the website, blog, facebook and google + for those that are interested. Through the many hands that come alongside to help, donate and contribute a difference is being made, and lives are being touched for an eternity.

Blessings, Art for Hope for Haiti
