

After the storm. Growing up in New Jersey and seeing the devastation of many places that hold special memories has caused a time for reflection. So many lives changed and touched in ways that only times like these bring. Hold tight to that which is Good, and still it is hard to see “things” washed away. If nothing else Lord help me to cherish what truly is lasting, engaging in that which cannot be washed away by any storm! Sandy claimed many lives with reports saying around 75 in Haiti. As the storm moved north, the rains did not subside, flooding areas in the north of Haiti and at least as far south as St Marc. Reports say another 17 went home with over 3000 effected in the north and many homes and crops being destroyed.

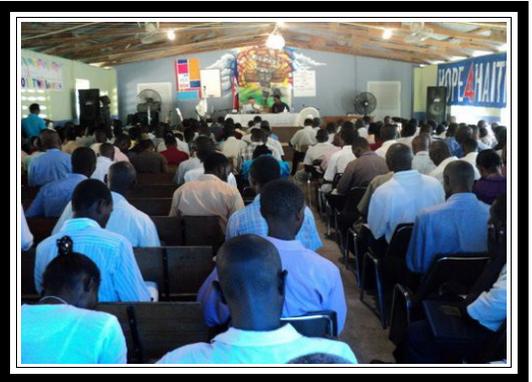

Continued issues within the government of Haiti have left people fed up with unrest being ever present. Roads blocked and jammed with traffic and peace seems far away with all that is going on.

But, there is good news. The people are hungry and the Lord is providing. Amid all the storms we can hear “peace be still” and “I will provide”.

There are things in each of our lives that need to be washed away and replaced with a hunger for Christ. The storms raged and some could not come as they clung to what they could. Still the people came and where some could not attend others filled the gaps to overflowing. The Leadership Conference went on with over 300 in attendance including persons from 83 different churches from all over Haiti. The workers now being filled, take the message back to share, and as they have been encouraged many others also will be.

Much more has been going on, so, as you have time check out these links.
Bataille Project – New school building
Filling another Crate and “Shoe Bags” - Blessings for the children

For even more up to date happenings check us out at

Facebook Google + Blog Website

If you would like to help, please let us know.
 Blessings, Art for Hope for Haiti 423-892-7227, saintmarchaiti@gmail.com

