PRS FORUM AT DENVER SEMINARY

We look forward to your participation in this enriching and transformative forum.

About this event

The PRS Forum is dedicated to exploring the theological, historical, and practical dimensions of engaging with Scripture through the practice of Public Reading of Scripture (PRS). The Apostle Paul exhorted Timothy, "Until I come, devote yourself to the public reading of Scripture, to preaching and to teaching" (1 Timothy 4:13). Rooted in this biblical command, PRS is an ancient and vital practice characterized by "listening to substantial portions of Scripture in community, regularly, and extensively" with the goal of engaging the entire Bible. PRS played a foundational role in the worship of the early church.

Despite its historical importance, PRS has experienced a significant decline, particularly within Western Christianity. Yet today, there are hopeful signs of renewal. Churches and Christian leaders are reintroducing this practice in various settings using high-quality dramatized audio Bibles. These settings include seminary and university campuses, prisons, rescue missions, local congregations, small groups, workplaces, and homes, fostering fresh encounters with God's Word in community.

By attending this event, you will experience this biblical practice firsthand and engage in thoughtful conversations with fellow scholars and practitioners.

Your registration includes valuable resources and meals throughout the event. We look forward to your participation in this enriching and transformative forum.
