

The purpose of this focus is not as much historical as formative for us.

In focusing on these eight days, we are not looking for knowledge as much as wisdom, not looking for facts as much as experience.

When we invite Jesus to come and save us, when we shout “Hosanna” and call on God to save us, Jesus is not coming in to sure up our status quo, rather he is coming to clean our house.

If we walk with Jesus, truly walk with him, he will make us uncomfortable!

We still have among us Pharisees and Sadducees, and chief priests and scribes, and if we are really honest, we know this because at times they are us.

True revolution and the experience of salvation can only come when Jesus has free reign in our life.
