

Because of Jesus' resurrection, everything has changed.

Question: Is the resurrection the most important truth in our life? Are we like those first Easter people, who know that the very hinge of our story bends on Christ's resurrection?

CS Lewis: "The resurrection, if false, is of no importance, and if true, of infinite importance. The only thing it cannot be is moderately important."

If Jesus had not died and rose again, we would have no hope of life beyond this temporal realm.

When we come upon hopeless situations in our life, we don't despair, because we remember the resurrection of Christ.

We are Easter People!
