

As we study Colossians, we are learning colossal lessons, lessons that are vital for our life as Christians.

Today, we continue with another great lesson from Colossians: We all work for somebody.

What does the Bible say about work? The Bible lifts up work as good, and that we all work for somebody.

The greatest work of God is not done in church sanctuaries by ordained ministers, but rather in places of vocation by those who take Jesus from here and obey him outside these walls.

What really matters is the person we work for, Jesus Christ. The reality is that there is a claim on our life, and we are all called to work for him, our Lord.
