

It is a fallacy to think we can “trouble proof” our lives. It is not “if” troubles will come in our lives, but “when” troubles will come into our lives.

A faith that lasts in tough times is unwavering.

A faith that lasts in tough times is unconditional.

A faith that lasts in tough times is unafraid.

To have a kind of faith that lasts in tough times takes a community of faith that can support us.