LAC NEXT GENERATION

As parents we often have a lot of say over our kids "needs", and rightly so. However, as we navigated the parable of the good Samaritan this week, I was reminded of the difference between needs and wants. There are times that I get them confused and it doesn't help my kids become more like Jesus.

When we look at the parable of the good Samaritan, it seems clear that the victim was in need. However, I wonder if I might justify walking around the victim, even if there were good reasons. Jesus knows the difference between our needs and wants better than we do; it's only as we are aligned with Him that we can clearly discern and instruct our kids accordingly.

DATES TO BE AWARE OF
