VBS Matters More than You Know

“Let the children come to me, and do not hinder them, for to such belongs the kingdom of God.”

- Mark 10:14

Summer often brings a welcome change of pace -warmer days, longer evenings, and a break from the intense schedule of the school year. Yet in the middle of vacations, pool days, and family trips, one of the most strategic opportunities for our church family arrives: Vacation Bible School.

VBS is far more than a week of crafts, songs, and snacks. It is a powerful, joyful mission field right in our own community. For many children and even some parents, it is the place where they first hear the good news of Jesus Christ in a way that captures their hearts. It is a concentrated week of fun, friendship, and faithful teaching that plants seeds of the gospel that can bear fruit for eternity.

Statistics from Lifeway Christian Resources and the Southern Baptist Convention consistently show the significant evangelistic impact of VBS. Each year, more than 2.5 million people enroll in VBS programs across the country, with tens of thousands making decisions to follow Christ. VBS has historically accounted for roughly 25% of baptisms reported in Southern Baptist churches.

These numbers remind us that childhood is a vital season for faith. Barna research shows that nearly half of Americans who accept Jesus as Savior do so before age 13, and two out of three born-again Christians made their commitment before age 18. VBS creates a welcoming space where kids can encounter the love of Jesus through Bible stories, worship, and caring leaders who point them to the cross.

At our church, VBS is one of the highlights of the year. It is a beautiful picture of the body of Christ working together - teachers, volunteers, hosts, and prayers all playing their part to reach the next generation. Children who may never step foot in a Sunday service during the school year often come through our doors during VBS. Families are welcomed, relationships are built, and the gospel is shared clearly and joyfully.

The beauty of VBS is that it doesn't require perfection. It simply requires willing hearts. Whether you teach a class, help with snacks, lead music, welcome families at the door, or commit to pray each day, your involvement matters. Every smile, every conversation, every truth spoken can be used by the Holy Spirit to draw a child - or an entire family - closer to Jesus.

I want to challenge each of us to lean into Vacation Bible School this Summer. Invite the children in your neighborhood. Faithfully attending members are encouraged to talk to Lindsay about volunteering. Pray for the hearts of every child who will walk through our doors. And if you have little ones at home, bring them ready to have fun and hear about the One who loves them most.

Summer is a season of life and growth. Let's make the most of it by investing in what lasts forever. May our church be known as a place where children are welcomed, the gospel is proclaimed, and lives are transformed by the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ.

Corey Cornutt
