

Cliff Notes.....

Since childhood I have had an interest in American history, and going down the trail of theology has guided my old interest especially into the role of the Christian faith and the Bible in the story of our nation and culture. Sunday night's series on the history of the Bible brings us to the importance of God's Word in Colonial America.

Sunday morning, we will take another step into the Book of John and look at another of Jesus' evangelistic encounters with people along His trail. The story of the Samaritan woman at the well of Jacob teaches us of Jesus' heart for individuals of low standing and for the nations and cultures of the world. I look forward to worshipping with you as we look at this famous passage of Scripture!

Friendship News.....

Our next Friendship Luncheon is just a few days off. Previously I told you about an interesting program, but sorrowfully it has been delayed. Pam will come up with some interesting games, so come out and see what she's got up her sleeve. Right now I don't have a menu, but will have in a few days.

You will be contacted by your Callers this next weekend: March 7th and 8th. Plan on joining us.
