“Trust: A Key Ingredient”

Have you ever noticed that people are often trapped in the snares of their own making? Someone told a student that he or she was not too bright. And sadly, even the smartest people who are told such tripe can go through life under such misapprehension. It is a tragedy to be trapped by the misconceptions of others.

The African impala can jump to a height of over ten feet and cover a distance of greater than thirty feet. Yet these magnificent creatures can be kept in an enclosure in any zoo with a three-foot wall. The animals will not jump if they cannot see where their feet will fall.

Faith is the ability to trust what we cannot see, and with faith we are freed from the flimsy enclosures of life that only fear allows to entrap us. As we move into summer may we renew our spirits as we gather for worship to praise God. Can we also attend Sunday school as we study together in the fellowship of the spirit? God makes us strong when we willingly participate in God’s great plan for us.

I hope we all have a happy Father’s Day!
