Thanks Maggie! Your excitement for God's word is awesome! Really loved the challenge you gave us. We'd encourage you guys to share Christ's love with someone today / this week. And if you don't know Christ, our challenge for you is to take a step and ask somebody (even us) about it :)

The Gospel really is a crazy awesome story of how God rescues us!! Not only are our lives saved once we become Christians, but then we want others' lives to be changed by it too!! Be looking and praying for opportunities to tell somebody else about God's rescuing love. Thanks Luke! Have a great Friday guys!!

05/26/2020 — Linnea

There's no need and no point in trying to hide anything from God- not our weaknesses or burdens or failures!! He accepts us just as we are, and He wants us to find our identity in Him, not in our own performance or in the places we fall short. Take a couple minutes to consider what you've been letting define you- and spend some time thinking about who Christ says you are :) Thanks so much Linnea!

It's so cool to remember that we always have the chance to choose joy and that joy isn't based on circumstances!! When the enemy tries put things in your way to get you down this week, remember truths about Christ and fight back for your joy!
