A large, dark, three-dimensional cross stands prominently against a dramatic, cloudy sky. The cross is constructed from thick, rectangular beams, giving it a substantial, almost architectural appearance. The sky is filled with soft, white clouds, creating a high-contrast background for the dark cross. The perspective is looking up at the cross, emphasizing its height and significance.

Ecclesiastes

Everything Is Meaningless
The words of the Teacher, son of David, king in Jerusalem:
"Meaningless! Meaningless!"
says the Teacher.
"Utter Meaningless!
Everything is meaningless."
What does man gain from all his labor at which he toils under the sun?
Generations come and generations go,
but the earth remains forever.
The sun rises and the sun sets,
and hurries back to its place,
The wind blows to the south
and turns to the north;
round and round it goes,
ever returning on its course.
All streams flow into the sea,
yet the sea is never full.
To the place the streams come from,
there they return again.
All things are wearisome,
a great task lies before them,
and man cannot attain to them,
nor can he grasp them.
Like a man who wars with a
stronger man,
like a man who fights with many, so is the man who wars with God.
If he builds a city,
he cannot dwell in it;
if he plants a vineyard,
he cannot enjoy it.
He cannot keep his eyes
open, nor can he sleep;
he cannot say, "I will rest";
he cannot say, "I will find peace";
for he says, "I am afraid of
evil days,
for I know not what will come, nor what day will come upon me."

Wisdom Is Meaningless
"If, the Teacher, was king
in Jerusalem,
"I devoted myself to explore by wisdom all the heaven. What a heavy burden on men! I have seen all this done under the sun; all of it meaningless, a chasing after the wind.
"What is twisted cannot
be straightened;
"What is lacking cannot
be counted.
"I thought much,
grew and grew in
wisdom,
and yet I came to know
nothing.
"For wisdom is a vain
pursuit,
and knowledge is
self-defeating;
also of madness and folly,
this, too, is a chasing after the wind.
"For with much wisdom
is sorrow;
the more knowledge,
