1 Corinthians 15:35-49, “The Nature of the Resurrection Body,” September 20, 2026, Kevin Stuhlmann

*Main Point: As a plant transcends the seed from which it grows, so it is with the resurrection body.

1. Read 1 Corinthians 15:35-49. In verses 36-37, Paul uses the illustration of a seed and a plant. What does this teach us about resurrection?
2. What different things is Paul communicating with the illustrations in verses 38-41?
3. How would all the illustrations in verses 36-41 answer the questions of the doubters in verse 35?
4. What application is there from the varied displays of “glory” (6x) described in verses 40-41?

5. Verse 42 makes the distinction between “perishable” and “imperishable.” Explain the difference and explain how this can affect our thinking.
6. Why does it say that this body “is sown in dishonor” (v. 43)? Why does it say the resurrection body will be “raised in glory”?
7. The four contrasts given in verses 42-44 show the superiority of the resurrection body. What does all this mean for life now?
8. How does Paul contrast Adam and Christ in verses 45-49? What does this teach us about our current bodies versus our resurrection bodies to come?
9. What other comments, questions, or personal applications do you have from this passage?
