1 Corinthians 8:1-13, "Love and Disputable Matters," April 26, 2026, Kevin Stuhlmann

Main Point: Love must govern our choices in disputable matters.

1. What "disputable matters" have you personally wrestled with or seen create tension between Christians?

2. Read 1 Corinthians 8:1-13. The concept of knowing/knowledge is repeated throughout (11x). On one hand, how is knowledge (especially spiritual knowledge) an important, good, and beneficial thing? On the other hand, what are the dangers concerning knowledge that Paul points out here?

3. How does verse 3 fit into Paul's argument?

4. What truths are contained in verses 4-6? How should these truths affect how we think, feel, and act?

5. In verses 7-13, how does Paul describe the situation of the person with a weak conscience? How does he describe the problem and the result of "you who have knowledge" (v. 10) exercising their knowledge and freedom wrongly?

6. How does Paul communicate the seriousness of this issue?

7. In verses 1-3, Paul highlights love for others and love for God. Looking at verses 7-13, how should love for both God and others direct us in how we exercise our Christian liberty?

8. What other comments, questions, or personal applications do you have from this passage?
