March 2019

Dear Pastor and Praying Friends,

I have been on medical furlough the past couple of months and I must confess it is hard to not be busy doing the things I see that need to be done and to not be planning an immediate ministry opportunity! Hopefully, that will be in the past soon.

I had my right shoulder reconstructed on Feb. 4. The rotator cuff and other connectors were completely severed, but are now reattached and secured to an anchor screwed into my bone. I have managed the pain well and have been getting good reports from my therapist regarding my progress with passive range on motion. The next visit with my doctor is Mar. 20. I have been told I will be transferred from home-based therapy to the Sport Medicine Center and I expect the therapy will get considerably harder and less pleasant as I will begin working on regaining strength in addition to range of motion. I will do the exercises faithfully and look forward to having a fully functioning right arm again.

During this time, I have had time to reflect more, pray more and communicate with those who are hurting more.

Very shortly, I will be allowed to travel, so if churches would allow me to report during the next few months, it would be a blessing.

Thank you for your faithful support.

Please pray for:

1. Therapy to go well.
2. Complete healing.
2. Wisdom in scheduling the autumn ministry.

Serving Him,

Mary Herman
