OFFICE HOURS

Whether it has been when I am preparing and crafting a sermon, spending time in the quietness of God, or just the ebb and flow of the everyday, I notice I am ruminating more lately and am appreciative of the nuances of our lives.

Maybe it is the season we are in – just finishing up Advent, spending time in the Christmas season, and preparing for Epiphany – that has me reflecting and a little nostalgic.

Maybe it is wrapping a few gifts and realizing how gift-giving is a little different as empty nesters.

Maybe it is watching the circle of life at church. I have watched generations younger than me grow up and build families. As their little ones grow, they enjoy some of the same aspects of church participation that their parents did. Or that my children did. Or that I did. I am sure the generations older than I am ponder about the same circle I see.

“I have no greater joy than this,
to hear that my children are walking in the truth.” ~ 3 John 1:4

Maybe it is the break in my master's program studies, and I have a bit more free time to let my mind relax and wander.

Maybe it is God guiding me along as I navigate this season of life. Showing me the blessings around me. Illustrating the love of the world that comes to us through Christ. Reminding me of God's design.

God's design includes the circle of life – the children, the new(ish) parents, the empty nests, the retirees. God's design includes the festivities around the Advent season and the joy that comes in the Christmas season. God's design includes time spent in contemplation and awe.

God's design is a great marvel. God's design provides the perfect landscape to ponder, imagine, meditate, reflect on, and simply dream about. If we allow ourselves.

Epiphany is the perfect time to redirect and be curious about God's design. Epiphany is when we celebrate God's revealed promise to the world. Epiphany is the appearance or manifestation of God revealed to us. According to the PCUSA, as the magi traveled from the East to see and worship Jesus Christ – the Messiah – God's grace is extended to all who believe the good news of Jesus.

Epiphany is closely connected to light and the symbolism of light. Specifically to the sunrise. Light is important in this season not only because of the star that guided the magi, but as it relates to the bright dawning of God's self-revelation in Christ.

Epiphany is the season that follows Christmas. It will take us to the Transfiguration of Our Lord Sunday, which is the Sunday before Ash Wednesday.

We waited with hope during Advent. God came to us – all the way to us – at Christmas. We celebrate the Lord's appearance in human form during Epiphany. Three great seasons that offer much to wonder about and be in awe of each year.

Enjoy your time spent in amazement at God's design.

Yours in Christ,
Pastor Emily

The End
Written By Eme McEntee

We knew what was to come,
His death.
It wouldn't be long before,
His last breath.
The end is near we don't have,
A choice.
Yet we know that up in heaven,
He will rejoice.
This old man was ill for,
Several years.
But just this year the cancer,
Got severe.
I'd not a clue what I'd do,
Without his face.
Yet death still came,
Swinging a mace.
We knew that ever since that one,
Dreadful day.
That the cancer was not,
Going away.
Now it's up to God,
And God alone.
There wasn't a day I wouldn't call him,
My own.
My Grandpa and I,
Against the world.

Eme McEntee (seventh grade) wrote this poem in honor of her great-grandfather, Dillard Anderson, who died recently. Eme courageously shared this poem at his memorial service and shares it with the congregation here.

Needs at the Pantry: Still needing the cloth, heavy duty bags that are sold in stores like Walmart and Menards. They can be new or used. They can have any type of advertising on them also. We use these specifically for our 'emergency' customers. Please note: if they come from a smoking environment, we cannot use them and they will be discarded! Thank you!

Warm Heart / Warm Hats We send a heartfelt thanks to Molly Jackson, Bev Sallee's mom! She recently hand knitted 13 awesome and warm stocking caps for our customers in need at the Pantry. One family in particular had several little ones in their family, but no hats for them! The parents were so very touched and thankful to receive the beautifully made hats for their children. Thank you, Molly!
