Bible Reading: Job 19:25-27

²⁵I know that my redeemer lives,
and that in the end he will stand on the earth.

²⁶And after my skin has been destroyed,
yet in my flesh I will see God;

²⁷I myself will see him
with my own eyes – I, and not another.
How my heart yearns within me!

CURRENT MESSAGE SERIES:

The Gospel According to Job

The tragedies Job encounters, and the questions that are raised as a result of these tragedies, provide us with extremely valuable insights into the complexity and the beauty of the Gospel.

October 11 – Part 1: Myth of the Righteous Man

Job is described as being blameless and upright, but can a mere mortal actually achieve godly righteousness?

– Job 9:2–4

October 18 – Part 2: My Redeemer Lives

Job, knowing the limits of his understanding and knowing that he is not qualified to serve as his own advocate, places his trust and faith in an unseen redeemer.

– Job 19:25–27

October 25 – Part 3: The Demand for Justice

Something in the core of our being cries out for justice. We want to see the guilty punished and the innocent exonerated. Of course, when we are found to be guilty of wrongdoing, we desire grace for ourselves. But does the extension of grace prohibit the execution of justice? Can grace and justice coexist?

– Job 25:2–4

November 1 – Part 4: Affliction of the Righteous

We want to extract suffering from our existence. We especially want to spare innocent people, our loved ones, and ourselves from pain and affliction. Unfortunately, suffering is inescapable, but we are not left to suffer alone.

– Job 30:9–11

November 8 – Part 5: Why God?

Why did God bring such tragedy into Job's life? Why did Job have to suffer in spite of his consistent obedience to God? Why does God allow anyone to suffer? The answers to these questions won't necessarily give us a desire to suffer, but they will help us change our perspective when we face hardships.

– Job 33:8–12

November 15 – Part 6: Owed Nothing, Given Everything

God doesn't owe us anything. He is not in our debt. So why has He sacrificed so much for us?

– Job 42:10–13

Join us after worship at Hope Café, across the lawn at Hope House, for some free refreshments.
