Congregational Prayer (speaking together)

God of all time,
you have called us to be stewards of your light and love,
to share messages of hope and healing.

We ask that you travel with us, offering hope and love to all we meet. Let us be your hands, feet, smile, and voice.

God, we sometimes struggle with the in-between – the push and pull of being called kind and being kind. We struggle with the in-between of being a voice for love and being silent so as not to offend. We struggle with believing we're enough and being enough.

Help us to see with eyes of compassion, to listen with care and concern, to respond with a passionate purpose, following in Christ's way of justice and peace.

May it always be so, in our worship today and in the days to come. Amen.

FOR THE CHILD IN ALL OF US

The Prayer of our Savior

Our Father who art in heaven, hallowed be your name.

Your kingdom come, your will be done, on earth as in heaven.

Give us today our daily bread, and forgive us our sins, as we forgive those who sin against us.
Lead us not into temptation but deliver us from evil.

For yours is the kingdom, and the power and the glory forever.
Amen.

A Litany of Civil Rights, Justice and Healing

One: In a sermon delivered on August 11, 1957, Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. stated "Life's most persistent and urgent question is, 'what are you doing for others?'"

All: Therefore, let us pray for courage and determination by those who are oppressed....

One: We remember Dr. King's warning that "a negative peace which is the absence of tension" is less than "a positive peace which is the presence of justice."

All: Therefore, let us pray that those who work for peace in our world may cry out first for justice...

One: We remember Dr. King's insight that "injustice anywhere is a threat to justice everywhere. We are caught in an unescapable network of mutuality tied in a single garment of destiny. Whatever affects one directly affects all indirectly"

All: Therefore, let us pray that we may see nothing in isolation, but may know ourselves bound to one another and to all people under heaven...

One: We remember Martin's lament that "the contemporary church is often a weak, ineffectual voice with an uncertain sound. It is so often the arch-supporter of the status quo. Far from being disturbed by the presence of the church, the power structure of the average community is consoled by the church's silent and often vocal sanction of things as they are."

All: Therefore, let us pray that neither this congregation nor any congregation of Christ's people may be silent in the face of wrong, but that we may be disturbers of the status quo when that is God's call to us...

One: We remember Martin's "hope that dark clouds of racial prejudice will soon pass away and the deep fog of misunderstanding will be lifted from our fear drenched communities and in some not too distant tomorrow the radiant stars of love and brotherhood will shine over our great nation with all their scintillating beauty."

All: Therefore, in faith, let us commit ourselves to the work of justice and healing of the whole of God's creation.

One: Remembering the wisdom God has given us through the work of Dr. King and the leaders of the Civil Rights Era, we are challenged. What will be our response to life's most persistent and urgent question?

All: In response to the question, we endeavor to rise above the narrow confines of individualistic concerns and commit ourselves to making a difference for the betterment of society at large and within the communities in which live. Amen.
