The Town Green District's Street Sheet

A guide to New Haven agencies that provide food, clothing, shelter and emergency services for people in crisis.

Homelessness and poverty are often the symptoms of complex circumstances and conditions.

The agencies listed in the Street Sheet provide food, clothing, shelter, and emergency services for people in crisis. If you're in need, or seeking to assist someone in need, the agencies listed in the Street Sheet can provide emergency assistance for those at risk. Please consider giving your money or your time to an agency listed in the Street Sheet.

The Facts about Panhandling

Myth: Panhandlers have no source of income.

Fact: The majority of panhandlers have some source of income. Numerous panhandlers have either worked for pay in the last month and/or received some type of assistance from family, friends, or social services.

Myth: Panhandlers are homeless.

Fact: Often, panhandlers are not homeless. Emergency shelter is available for those who are homeless (see page 4). While some shelters ask for a nominal nightly fee, most will waive the fee for those who cannot afford it in exchange for completing a chore at the shelter.

Myth: Panhandlers have no food or means to obtain food.

Fact: There are numerous free and discounted food services offered throughout New Haven (see page 7). WIC and SNAP programs are also available to individuals who demonstrate financial need.

Myth: Panhandlers use money they collect for food and shelter.

Fact: Panhandlers often use the money they collect to support substance or gambling addictions, not to acquire food or shelter.

It's OK to not give spare change to a panhandler. If you are in need of assistance when dealing with a panhandler, contact the New Haven Police Non-Emergency Number at 203-946-6316.
