To all you Young at Heart who love to make a joyful noise, you are invited to come and make music together starting on January 21 at 11:00 am in the choir room. Bring someone with you.

For the January SOUL Food we are collecting gently used coats to be given out to those who are in need. Please drop them off at the church on or before January 13. Your donation is greatly appreciated.

From our reading last week, we were given this challenge:

There are only two responses to Jesus: we either bring what we have to him, offer it and live a life of worship OR we try to avoid, hide or destroy him like Herod. THERE IS NO MIDDLE GROUND! So what is Christ calling you to offer unreservedly to him?

Daily Devotions & Scriptures

Monday, January 12 Read Psalm 82

God demands justice in an unjust world and graciousness in a world where might often makes right. How do we as the church model God's commandment today? How do you respond to the call in this psalm? What does this psalm tell you about God's Will in your life? Discuss this with God in prayer today.

Tuesday, January 13 Read Deuteronomy 30:9-14

Look closely at v.11. Is this commandment too difficult to follow? What would such a total commitment to discipleship look like in your life? Note that in vv.11-14 the scripture reminds us that this is to be lived out in day to day practice not as a separate religious practice or in abstract theological terms.

Wednesday, January 14 Read Amos 7:1-7

The image of the plumb line reminds us that God has a very set standard for us and it cannot be bent to suit our worldly desires. Israel regularly tried to have it her own way and disaster was the inevitable result. Are there ways we still see this rebellious and dangerous trend in our own society? How should we as the church respond?

Thursday, January 15 Read Luke 10:25-37

As you read this familiar story, look for elements of going beyond one's comfort zone, religious legalism and total commitment-all framed against a question of what is necessary for eternal life. What is the difference between a life of faith and being religious? Where does this question apply in your life?

Friday, January 16 Read Colossians 1:1-14

As Paul praises and encourages the Colossians, note the link between faithful obedience to God's Kingdom-building and personal and spiritual growth. Many claim to want to understand God and His Will better but relatively few pursue a steadily deeper commitment. Why do you suppose that is? In what ways are you expanding your own discipleship?

Saturday, January 17 Read Psalm 25:1-10

Read this as your own personal prayer today, focusing on vv,4-5 & 9. Today, reflect on the ways God is showing you His paths and His purposes. Prayerfully consider how you can respond. In what ways are you growing in your discipleship?
