Daily Devotions & Scriptures

Monday, September 21, Read John 8:31 & Psalm 78: 1-4

Studying, obeying, and ABIDING in the Word of God is an essential mark of a true disciple. My “great friend” Charles Spurgeon wisely said: “...the world doesn’t read the Bible, the world reads Christians!” If we truly wish to carry out God’s will let us persevere expectantly in His Word.

Tuesday, September 22, Read John 5:30; 15:5

We Christians can never overcome all our troubles through our own efforts; impossible! A true disciple must exercise faith, yet with whole dependance on the God for whom nothing is impossible, neither difficult. When you pray, that is proof of it.

Wednesday, September 23, Read Galatians 5:22-23 & John 15:16

We can speak in tongues of the Spirit, raise the dead, make Mount Everest move... but it is not by “works” but by “fruits” that Christians will be known (Matt. 7:15-20). Works speak of outward effort; but the fruit of the true disciple speaks of an inward transformation.

Thursday, September 24, Read John 13: 34-35; Jeremiah 31:3

How easy it is to love those who do things that please us. How hard (impossible!) to love those who do unpleasant things, and above all, fail to meet our expectations. But just there is ‘the challenge’; or rather, the Commandment. For an essential part of bearing the fruit of the Spirit is unconditional love, just as Jesus did; another great mark of a true disciple—love.

Friday, September 25, Read Matthew 28: 18-20 & Mark 16:15

In math, we understand the difference between “addition and multiplication.” But, in the spiritual area, it’s more profound. For addition is viewed as a more passive act; but multiplication is the result of a true disciple making disciples. Keep in mind that God’s math defies logic: “one... 1,000—two... 10,000” (Take a look—Deut. 32:30.)

Saturday, September 26, Read Matthew 9: 35-38 & John 13: 1-17

Since childhood, we have the habit of seeking out role models. However, the true disciple must find joy in reflecting the love, character, compassion, in short, the Person of Christ, just as Paul did (1 Cor. 11:1). Let’s try our best daily to be the little Christs the world so desperately needs.
