Daily Devotions & Scriptures

Monday, September 28 Read Psalm 1

The Hebrew word translated in v. 2 as ‘meditate’ is haga which means literally “to moan, murmur or even growl.” Meditating on God’s Law is not a passive mental exercise but a physical interaction with what it means to live as God’s people, to wrestle with it, talk about it, gnaw on it. When we do that, we engage the Word’s meaning and substance for our daily lives.

Tuesday September 29 Read Jeremiah 18:1-12

A vital step in strengthening our relationship with God is to remember that He is the Creator and we are part of His plans...not necessarily the other way around! In this passage, the people of Israel have forgotten this truth, much to their detriment. What are some ways we can keep this in focus for our lives? How does this help us grow in following God?

Wednesday, September 30 Read Philippians 3:12-20

Even someone as faithful as Paul realizes that discipleship is an on-going and growing process. His language here encourages us to put serious effort into growing in our faith. What does it look like in your life to “strain for the prize?” Why do you suppose this is not more common among Christians?

Thursday, October 1 Read 1 Timothy 6:11-19

Notice all the verbs used here in the instructions to Timothy: shun, pursue, fight, take hold, charge, keep. These are active, serious actions for a vibrant, ever growing and improving discipleship. Note the contrast here with those who are confident and comfortable in their earthly status. Why is such active dedication crucial if we are to live as disciples?

Friday, October 2 Read 1 Corinthians 9:19-27

Look closely at v.24, what is the ‘prize’ which is your life’s goal? Is it oriented towards God’s Kingdom or yours? Reflect on your priorities, goals and dedication. How do these show which race are you running to win?

Saturday, October 3 Read Matthew 5:17-47

This can be a rather intimidating passage as none of us is innocent of regularly breaking the Law as Jesus defines it here (and in many other ways as well!). Of course we celebrate the victory at the cross and the gift of grace that saves us from our inability to meet the demands of perfection. Does that mean, however, that we shouldn’t strive towards these Christ-like standards? Why or why not?
