

HILTON ANIMAL HOSPITAL SEVERE INCLEMENT WEATHER POLICY

Notice to Staff and Clients

- Our primary concern is for the safety of our staff, patients and clients.
- During a severe weather event our staff will not be in the building.
- Hilton Animal Hospital is not a inclement weather shelter
  - The building does not have an auxiliary power source
  - The building may be subject to flooding
- If a severe inclement weather event has been declared for our area we will no longer accept animals for boarding or hospitalization
- If a severe inclement weather event is anticipated we will call all owners of boarded and hospitalized patients to come and pick them up ASAP
- During the weather event our staff will not return to the hospital until the event has passed and roads are safe to travel. Any animal left in the building will be left alone.
- If an evacuation order is given for our area, any animal in the building will be left. Our staff can only return when the evacuation order is lifted.
- When returning to the hospital, please use extreme caution!
