

Good morning West Haven family if your life looks anything like mine, you never seem to have enough time. Time is almost always our greatest obstacle to accomplishing everything on our task list I thought I'd share a story that might help us make the most of our time.

I was part of a minster's Bible study that a friend had invited me to join. This particular morning, the discussion led into the things a Godly minster should be doing in a week. After much discussion my friend piped in, "How am I suppose to accomplish all of these tasks when I already can't find a free moment to spend time with my son?"

A seasoned pastor quickly responded, "You need to multiply your time! Instead of looking at your task list as individual priorities of time, consider lumping things together." He continued on, "When it is appropriate I take my daughter along when I make a hospital call or when I am meeting a person at the coffee shop to share Christ with them. After the task is done I'll take five minutes to talk with my daughter about what just happened. I consider that I have accomplished three tasks in one slot of time. I have accomplished the task at hand. I have spent time with my daughter and I have passed a little bit of my faith on to her."

How might you consolidate your task list of things to do and ministry expectations? If you are cooking a meal to take to someone have your kids help prepare and deliver it. If you work outside of Tonganoxie, consider setting up a carpool to help make connections with people or re-envision your place of work as your mission field, too. If someone offers to give you a hand with a task, take them up on their offer, especially if it's someone that doesn't know Christ. Be The Church will work nicely alongside any task that is around other people or where others can be involved. You might wonder how this works in our zone, so let me take a moment to address the purpose of our zones. I have set zones to fill three needs. The first is shepherding. When people are in the hospital or are physically laid up, West Haven people in that zone should take the opportunity to care for those people and each other. The second is support. I have mentioned several times that our zones are there to resource our strengths, talents and our stuff. The third is a place to start. It's not always easy knowing where to start reaching out, so the zones give us a basic area to reach people. However, our zone is not the only place we can or should shepherd, support, or reach out. Anywhere our path takes us is a great place to carry out be the church and if our children are along that can be a great teaching moment too. Minister to anyone and everyone that God has put in your path. Be The Church is a 24/7 ministry and shouldn't be seen as one of the items on our task list, but rather a lifestyle that is embedded within our task list. If you feel swamped for time, take a serious look at your task list, pray over it, and look for opportunities to multiply your time!

Be The Church Fellowship BBQ

June 26th right after church we will have a BBQ. We want to make it easy for everyone to attend so all food will be provided. Following the time of fellowship we will move into the train station for a Be The Church refresh. We will review what has been accomplished so far and what we need to focus on going forward. Unity is key for the success of this ministry so we ask that you mark your calendars now so we can move forward together!
