Background: In your home there is at least one parent, maybe a sibling or two also. You are not alone! Maybe you would even appreciate a little more quiet time!. You are young and generally healthy with opportunity and discovery defining the bulk of your experiences. You are so interesting!

There are many for whom this period of isolation is challenging. Do you know what would entertain them? Your stories! Your ideas and opinions. The things on your mind!

Activity: Write a letter to someone in the church. Your letter does not need to be perfect, but a gesture. Introduce yourself. Tell them who you are. Explain that you are just checking in. If you want to go further (you should) ask them what they like to do in their time at home. You can ask the big questions too! Why church? Where they're from. I promise that they will love knowing you. And if you get a letter back, you will love receiving them too!

If you do not hear from me with the address of the person you've been paired with, please reach out and I will get you paired.

In addition, you can write letters to each other! Be a part of the Snail Mail Revolution, my friends! You can write whatever you like to each other. I will send each of you someone different to write, so if this works out, but the end of the day, you might have yourself three pen pals. Write on!

Details: You do not have to have special stationery or envelopes, but you do need a stamp! If there is not a stamp in your tech-savvy house, please let me know. I can pop some in the mail for you. Get your reminder on how to address an envelope here.

Have fun!
