BUSINESS Meeting
SUNDAY, AUGUST 16
 At the conclusion of the 10:30AM Combined Worship Service

Can you believe the start of school is right around the corner? The summer has flown by! As families gear up for another year of learning, I want to provide some encouragement for you about reading the Bible. We all know that reading is an essential element of a fruitful school year. I want you to consider your perspective of the Bible and realize how important it is for fruitfulness in every area of your life.

Before vocational ministry, I was a deckhand on a fishing boat. Whether it's snapper fishing in the Gulf of America or catfishing in the Tennessee River, every fisherman knows the rarer the fish, the more exciting the catch. For example, we were going through the motions of a typical day offshore catching snappers when, quite literally, out of the blue, we hooked a sailfish. As this electric-blue billfish jumped out of the water through a chaotic thirty-minute fight, everyone put down their fishing poles just to watch the action. Take this illustration and do your best to contextualize God's Word to Samuel. 1 Samuel 3:1 says, "...And the word of the Lord was rare in those days..." Out of the blue came the voice of the living God. When they realized what was happening, Samuel and Eli stopped what they were doing and listened.

We have a different problem. The Word of God is so common and accessible to us that we can have a harder time stopping to listen. We can learn from Samuel and Eli's response to God's spoken word.

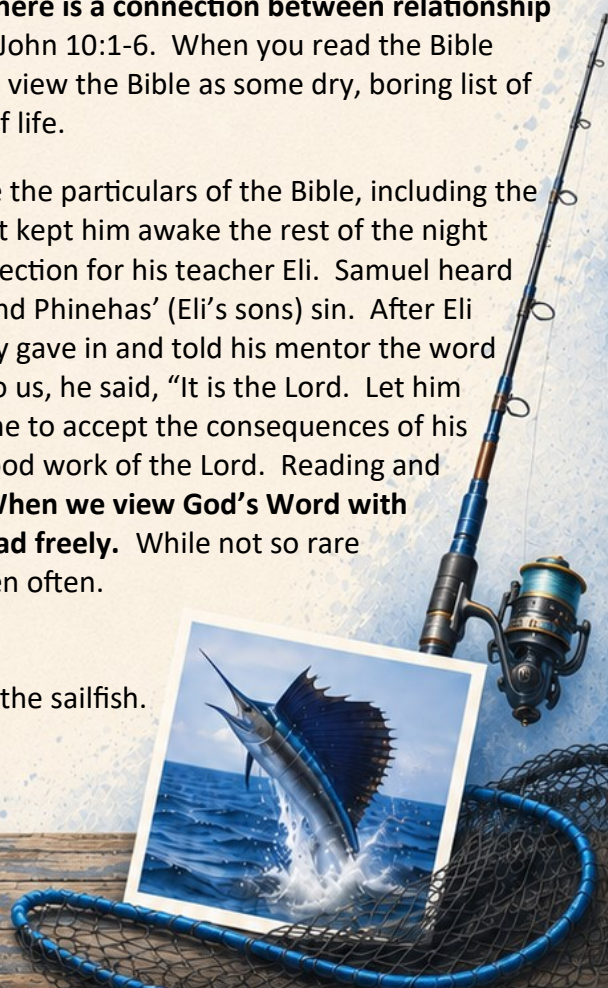

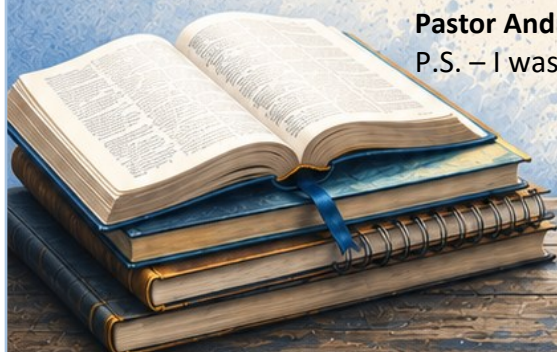

The way they received truth teaches us lessons that can transform how we see the Bible. Perhaps you, like so many other believers, need to be reminded just how awesome God's Word is.

Think about all the words you read on a daily basis. We consume text messages, articles, websites, books, social media posts, and more. Perhaps you have a note written from a parent, spouse, or other loved one. You probably enjoy reading that note more than all the other general words you read combined. Why? Because you know it is from someone that loves you. When love is written between the lines, the words we read are more meaningful to us. 1 Samuel 3:7 shows us there is a connection between relationship with God and hearing His voice. Jesus taught these truths in John 10:1-6. When you read the Bible remember that there is love between the lines. We shouldn't view the Bible as some dry, boring list of rules but as God's loving voice to lead us through every part of life.

This perspective can change the way that we read and receive the particulars of the Bible, including the difficult parts. Samuel received a hard message from God that kept him awake the rest of the night (1 Sam. 3:11-15). There is no doubt that Samuel had great affection for his teacher Eli. Samuel heard that there was judgement on Eli's house because of Hophni and Phinehas' (Eli's sons) sin. After Eli pressed Samuel to share with him this message, Samuel finally gave in and told his mentor the word of judgment in its entirety. Eli's response may be surprising to us, he said, "It is the Lord. Let him do what seems good to him" (3:18). It seems that Eli had come to accept the consequences of his son's sin and his responsibility as their father as a right and good work of the Lord. Reading and receiving God's Word is greatly impacted by how we see it. When we view God's Word with the perspective of love, we can accept the hard truths we read freely. While not so rare anymore, the Word of God is still as wonderful. Stop and listen often.

Pastor Andrew

P.S. – I was the one who caught the sailfish.

Summer is over?!!

A new school year brings a lot of emotions. Some students are excited to see friends, join new activities, and start fresh. Others may feel nervous about new teachers, harder classes, changing friendships, or simply trying to fit in. Parents may be relieved to get their home clean, food stocked, and a quiet room for a few hours. But for followers of Jesus, going back to school is about more than schedules, grades, sports, and social life. It is an opportunity to live with purpose and share the hope of Christ. Parents are sending their kids to school for more than education. They are being sent on a mission.

You Are Going Somewhere on Purpose

It can be easy to think of school as a place you simply have to survive. You wake up early, sit through classes, finish assignments, and count down the days until the next break. Ephesians 2:10 says, "For we are his workmanship, created in Christ Jesus for good works, which God prepared beforehand, that we should walk in them."

You are not an accident. Your personality, gifts, experiences, friendships, and opportunities can all be used by God. Your job/school is not separate from your faith. It is one of the main places where you can live out your faith.

This Is Your Mission Field

Before Jesus returned to heaven, He told His followers, "Go therefore and make disciples of all nations." (Matthew 28:19).

Sometimes we hear that verse and immediately think about traveling to another country. Missions certainly happen around the world, but they also happen in classrooms, cafeterias, locker rooms, buses, and football stands.

Acts 1:8 says, "You will be my witnesses."

A witness simply tells others what they have seen, heard, and experienced. You do not have to know every answer or preach a sermon in the hallway. You can tell people how Jesus has changed your life. You can share why you have hope. You can invite a friend to church.

Start with Prayer

Pray for your friends by name. Pray for your teachers/bosses. Pray for courage. Pray for opportunities to talk about Jesus. Pray that your job/school would experience the love and truth of God.

Colossians 4:3 says, "Pray also for us, that God may open to us a door for the word." Verse 6 adds, "Let your speech always be gracious."

Ask God to open doors and then pay attention when

Walk into This Year with Courage

You may feel too young/old, too shy, or too ordinary to make a difference. But God has always used ordinary people who were willing to trust Him.

1 Timothy 4:12 says, "Let no one despise you for your youth, but set the believers an example in speech, in conduct, in love, in faith, in purity."

This school year, do not simply ask, "How can I get through this year?"

Ask, "God, how do You want to use me this year?"
