THE CHURCH OFFICE IS CURRENTLY UNDER RENOVATION

We are temporarily working from the Church Library. If you need assistance, please don't hesitate to call.

PREPARE FOR BATTLE

Daniel 10:1-3, 10-13, 16-19

We are living in a culture that is growing increasingly hostile to Christ and His Church. Just this last week a Baptist church was stormed by protesters who interrupted a worship service and harassed our brothers and sisters who had gathered in the name of Jesus. It's hard to believe this is happening in our society. These acts should be condemned by every Christian, and the "protesters" should be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law.

I want to be clear what I'm calling the church to recognize. I'm not saying that we should respond with violence or return the vitriol in kind. We should protect our sanctuary, to be sure, and we will. What I want us to see is that our battle is mainly a spiritual one (Eph. 6:12). We push back the darkness with the light of the Lord Jesus. We go to war with the Gospel of Jesus Christ to win the hearts of the lost. Daniel was living in a society opposed to His faithfulness to the Lord. We can learn a lot from Daniel, and particularly some lessons on the spiritual battle we are all facing, whether we want to be or not.

The term "prepare for battle" steers my imagination toward the greatest movie franchise of all time, The Lord of the Rings. There is a particular scene in the second movie, The Two Towers, where the people have taken refuge in a fortress as an enormous, mighty, evil army bears down upon them. On the eve of battle the fighting force that receives their weapons appear to be nothing more than untrained militia. Normal people about to be thrust into a fierce conflict. Three of the main characters, Aragorn, Gimli, and Legolas, comment this way on the state of the soldiers...

Aragorn: "Farmers, farriers, stable boys. These are no soldiers."

Gimli: "Most have seen too many winters!"

Legolas: "Or too few."

When I consider the cosmic conflict that our passage in Daniel describes, I can feel like one of those stable boys receiving a sword on the precipice of a war that I'm simply not prepared for. Perhaps you feel the same way? I think we are in good company; Daniel doesn't exactly embody the characteristics of a mighty warrior. Notice how he's described in our passage. He is mourning, fasting, old, weak, trembling, fearful, and on his hands and knees. Yet, Daniel is the central human figure in these texts that reveal so much about spiritual warfare.

Take note of Paul's words in the New Testament, "Be strong in the Lord and in the strength of His might" (Eph. 6:10). Spiritual conflict is a different kind of war that demands a different kind of warrior. Victory over Satan is possible through God's power not our own. How can we do this? Daniel's example can be helpful here.

Leaning into God's love brings us courage. Twice Daniel was told that he was "greatly loved" by God (10:11,19 ESV). Spiritual attacks often bring discouragement that make us feel alone and unloved. Nothing could be further from the truth! God's people are protected and can only be impacted by evil as the Lord allows. We see this dynamic the most vividly at the beginning of the book of Job. It should give us courage that God allows attacks because He wants a vicarious victory through us!

The Word and prayer prepare us for battle by bringing us help. Daniel 10:12 reveals that Daniel was seeking understanding from God and praying for help. These kinds of prayers did not and will not go unanswered. There are angels that come to believers' aid still today. Matthew 18:10 reveals something incredible about angels, go ahead and read that verse. The angels are watching God's face for Him to express concern over one of His children and when He does, they take action!

The battle that the farmers and farriers fought in The Two Towers was fierce. There's a good chance you can relate to them. Normal, everyday people that feel ill-equipped for the spiritual battle. In the story, just as it seemed like the evil forces would emerge victorious, allies descend from the top of a hill in glorious light and good wins the day. J.R.R. Tolkien, the author of The Lord of the Rings said, "We have come from God, and inevitably the myths woven by us, though they contain error, will also reflect a splintered fragment of true light, the eternal truth that is with God." Though the battle in the books/movies is an incomplete, splintered illustration of our spiritual battle, it is a helpful one. Ultimately, God wins the battles, and we are the everyday people who share in His victories.

I love word games! Scrabble, Scattergories, Boggle... all of them. The more letters, the better the score. Obviously, I also like to triumph.

Words matter a great deal, not only to other people but to God as well. We will give an account for every careless word that we speak. We say we love God and bacon double cheeseburgers from Tops. We say we love our family and the New York Mets. What we say and what we mean can be very different things.

I challenge you and me, to notice what we say for one day. Really focus on your intent when speaking just for one day. I wonder what you will notice. What will you pray? How will you talk to your family and friends? What about the barista that messes up your order every time?

Words from God created so much of what we see. His Word became flesh - Jesus - the Word incarnate. What power do our words have when we choose to speak His Word?

I hope we allow God to use our words in a powerful way. To encourage and build up one another. Or, just use them and devastate your opponent in a game of Scrabble.
