The Pastor's Corner

I have finished my seven-week series on spiritual habits and those messages are online on our webpage or can be ordered on cd, at the downtown campus, for free. I hope these sermons have been and will continue to be helpful! This Sunday we turn our attention toward Holy Week. Over the next four weeks we will look at some of the events that preceded Jesus' death, burial and resurrection. I am calling this week's message "Two Out of Three is Not Bad." We will look at three stories on Jesus' final journey to Jerusalem; the rich young ruler, the blind son of Timaeus and Zacchaeus. Three men in radical different places, who all encountered Jesus in the eleventh hour of His ministry and reacted very differently. I believe most of us can find ourselves somewhere in the stories of these three men. I hope you will be here this week as we begin our journey to Jerusalem.

A Word From the Interim Youth Coordinator

P.A.Y.

It is a given that youth ministry will include events, mission trips, summer camps, etc. It is also a given that those will cost money. With these thoughts in mind, we launch the new program, P.A.Y. (Projects Assisting our Youth). We see scripture as teaching that a "workman is worthy of his hire" and therefore want to instill into these students the purpose and benefits of work. Here is how it works:

1. You have a project that one of our youth can accomplish. It could be mowing your yard, cooking you a meal, teaching you to use your smart phone, etc.
2. Contact the youth minister via email or the church office and he will put you in contact with the correct student capable of performing that task.
3. When the project is completed, you simply pay the youth a straight forward $10 per hour (please remember that this is as much a fund raiser as a work project). The student will return the funds to the youth minister, who will then credit the amount to that student's account, from which the student can then withdraw funds when needed, ONLY to pay for FBC events. We started this project a few weeks ago and have already seen great benefits of several students working their own way to events.

This will accomplish a few things. It will teach the students to balance an account on a simplistic level, help pay for events so they are not constantly bombarding their parents/guardians (especially when multiple students per family are involved), teach them the value of work and most importantly it will create a bond of unity between our youth and the rest of the congregation. Please remember that this is a brand new program and will be adjusted along the way to help improve as we move forward.
