

CHANGING PATHS

August 2025 | Volume 23 Issue 4

The inset picture was taken right before we bid farewell to Lily at the airport at the end of the summer. After being reunited in May, we were so blessed as a family to spend weeks together during the months between academic school years. We were able to catch up on all the details of her first year away at school, explore some new sites, and even sleep in on a few occasions!

With many community members traveling (or even departing Korea), and with some of our regular ministry activities temporarily on break, this summer once again gave us a chance to plan and prepare for the next 12 months.

Looking ahead to the days and weeks ahead, we are particularly excited about the line-up of events (fellowship, service-minded, and instructional) at International Lutheran Church and in our community. Olivia has already started her last year of high school, and Lily began her sophomore year of college with a very interesting course load (including Biblical Hebrew!) and new on-campus job opportunities.

Please continue to pray for us as we live out our various vocations here in Asia at the beginning of our 23rd year together in mission with you and our local ministry partners. We give thanks to the Lord for His mercy and protection, and for the chances to share Christ's love in word and deed with our neighbors in this part of the world.
