BONAIRE IN PRAYER

Our altar is always open for prayer at the end of worship; come forward as God leads you.
If you would like to become a member of this family of faith, speak with the minister or any church leader about joining.

PASTORAL CARE

Would you allow us to pray for you or someone you love? Use the Connection Cards for prayer requests, and our staff and Care Team consider it an honor to pray for your need. Do you have a praise about someone on the list who can now be removed? We'd love to hear that, too!

It takes courage to walk out of a building with ashes on your forehead. But, that is not the only courageous thing that the Ash Wednesday crowd did a week ago. As folks came forward to have the sign of the cross placed on their forehead, everyone was invited to write down and turn in something they might give up, or add, as a Lenten spiritual practice to prepare for Easter. To put pen to paper and publish, as it were, something that you intend to do is a daring thing. It takes courage, because it makes us vulnerable. What if I don't do it? Does God judge me for missing a day?

To observe Lent, as the church does, is to 'do' a thing mostly in secret for an audience of one: God. And the life of faith is lived first, and foremost, in front of God. The God who knows not just what we are doing but even what we are thinking. Talk about feeling exposed. Yet, Brené Brown wrote, "Staying vulnerable is a risk we have to take if we want to experience connection." I think this is true of our most important relationship.

A few days later I unfolded each one and have now started reading through them. As I read through them, I am praying for the anonymous person who had the courage to write down their intentions. It gives me such encouragement to know that I am traveling towards Easter in a community that has the courage to take away and add things in order to grow closer to God.

Whoever or whatever it is that has brought you to worship with us this morning, you are welcome here. We are humbled that you are with us. Connect with us online, on Sundays, or in the office during the week if we can help. Grace and peace, Scott
